"GOD IS IN HEAVEN; THE DAY OF RETRIBUTION WILL COME"

HOLLAND'S FINANCES DRAIN OF GOLD SUFFERED BY NETHERLANDS BOLSTERING UP THE GUILDER

$7,000,000 LOST IN ONE DAY

Amsterdam, To-day.
The Bank of the Netherlands is estimated to have lost above $7,000,000 worth of gold yesterday. The purchasers are stated to be France and the United States.

The drastic raising of the discount rate from 3 per cent to 5 per cent is regarded here as demonstrating the firm intention of the monetary authorities to defend the guilder, though at the cost of heavy losses of gold.

As a result of the intervention of the Bank of the Netherlands sterling declined from 7.41 to 7.36, but the strength of the franc and the dollar is still moving above the gold export point.

Uneasiness Over Cabinet Crisis

—CHINA MAIL—SPECIAL

Amsterdam, To-day.
The bank rate has been raised by the Bank of the Netherlands from 3 to 5 per cent, as from to-day, the last change having occurred on July 18, when it was lowered by 1/2 per cent, to 3 per cent. This drastic action is the response to the uneasiness shown by Dutch and international financial circles at the Cabinet crisis now prevailing.

SERIOUS SPLIT REVEALED IN U.S. SILVER BLOC

Pittman Statement
Disclaimed

REPERCUSSIONS EXPECTED
SHORTLY

Washington, To-day.

A serious split in the Senate silver bloc was revealed when Senators Thomas and McCarran denied on Tuesday Senator Pittman's statement that the repeal of the silver tax would violate the compromise agreement with President Roosevelt, both stating that the silver bloc was not bound by any agreement, and at the same time intimating that Senator Pittman could no longer be considered the spokesman of the silver group owing to his activity in connection with the merger of the Western silver mines.

Further repercussions of the above schism will be heard shortly when Senator Thomas reports the Silver Tax Repeal Bill to the Senate. It is expected that he will then deal at length with the entire situation. Meanwhile President Roosevelt said to a press conference that a reply was being prepared to a letter from certain silver Senators, but he declined to amplify his statement. — Reuter.

WARNING TO MARINERS

"Miss Dolly" Meets
Difficulties

BOTH DOING WELL

—CHINA MAIL—SPECIAL

Milan, To-day.
The modern Hannibal and "Miss Dolly" arrived at Aosta on Tuesday night at 11 p.m. Both are doing well. The local population, in high spirits, gave Mr. Richard Halliburton and his elephant companion an enthusiastic welcome.

Meanwhile it is reported by the press that the American journalist struck two more unforeseen snags. The first was that the Italian Government insisted on his depositing at the frontier half the value of the elephant. No sooner was this paid, after great difficulties, that it turned out that the frontier could not be passed until the animal satisfied a strict veterinary examination. — Trans-Ocean Service.

THE RESTORATION IN GREECE

Ex-King George States
His Conditions

—CHINA MAIL—SPECIAL

Budapest, To-day.
Ex-King George II of Greece declared immediately after his recent London conversations with M. Kotzias, chief Burgomaster of Athens, reports the Berliner Tageblatt, firstly, that under no circumstances would he return to Greece as the result of a coup d'etat, even if the restoration was made possible by this procedure; and secondly, even after the plebiscite, though it were conducted in a manner free from all forms of pressure, he would not claim his rights as King of Greece unless in his opinion the majority was so great as to guarantee that his return would cause no disturbance in the country. — Trans-Ocean Service.

PRESS BAN ENFORCED IN CANTON

Four Local Papers
Concerned

SELLERS IMPRISONED

[From Our Own Correspondent]
Canton, To-day.
The vernacular reports stating that eight Hong Kong Chinese papers have been prohibited from entering Canton are incorrect, as only four papers are involved.

Over twenty newspapers have been locked up for selling the newspapers in question, their terms of imprisonment ranging from one to three weeks. Police are waiting at the Canton-Kowloon Railway Station this morning to seize copies of the newspapers concerned coming into the city.

A secretary of the South-west Political Council stated that the papers are denied admission to Canton, because they publish sensational news of political changes which is groundless. As a result of this ban, the Tai Chung Yat Po of Hong Kong has the best circulation here. This paper is owned substantially by Generals Chiang Kwang-nai and Tsai Ting-kai, formerly of the 19th Route Army.

BIG LANDSLIDE AT CAUSEWAY BAY

Very Close To St. John
Brigade Headquarters

A heavy landslide occurred at about 10.30 a.m. to-day close to the new St. John Ambulance Brigade headquarters in Tai Hang Road, Causeway Bay.

A large portion of the hillside in the neighbourhood of the building became dislodged as a result of the recent heavy rains, and left the main thoroughfare partially covered with rocks and rubble. The P.W.D. soon had the situation in hand, however, and the road is now once again open to motor traffic.

The St. John building is in no danger and fortunately no one was injured as a result of the slide, which occurred opposite the servants' entrance.

WEATHER REPORT

A weak anticyclone is centred over North Japan and a ridge of high pressure extends from it to East China. A depression covers Tongking and is deepening. A trough of low pressure extends from the Southern Philippines to the Ladrone Islands. A centre is developing to the north-west of Saipan and another may be forming to the east of South Loozon. South-east winds, moderate to fresh; cloudy, occasional rain. This was the forecast for to-day, as issued by the Royal Observatory this morning.

VITAL MATCH

BUDGE DEFEATS VON CRAMM

London, To-day.

For the second year in succession America will challenge Britain for the Davis Cup.

Yesterday Wilmur Allison, America's No. 1 ranking player, beat Heinrich Henkel in straight sets at Wimbledon to give the United States the necessary match for entry into the Challenge Round, and Donald Budge, playing for his place in next Saturday's challenging team, beat a listless Gottfried von Cramm in four sets to give America victory by 4 matches to 1.

Detailed scores were:
W. Allison (U.S.) beat H. Henkel 6-1, 7-5, 11-9.
D. Budge (U.S.) beat G. von Cramm 6-5, 9-7, 8-6, 6-3.

Wood Displaces Allison in U.S. Singles Line-Up

London, To-day.

The following are the teams for the Challenge Round of the Davis Cup competition at Wimbledon next Saturday, Monday, and Tuesday.
GREAT BRITAIN (Holders)
Singles—Fred Perry and Bunny Austin.
Doubles—Pat Hughes and C. R. D. Tuckey.

AMERICA

Singles—Donald Budge and Sidney Wood.
Doubles—Wilmur Allison and John Van Ryn. — Reuter.
The inclusion of Wood, 1931 Wimbledon champion, is not surprising in view of the 31-year-old Allison's physical requirements.

ALLISON'S DETERMINATION

Allison's tremendous will power won him the marathon third set which decided Germany's fate in the 1935 series. Almost at the point of fainting from fatigue, Allison twice fell heavily from sheer exhaustion before carrying America into the Challenge Round.

AMERICA AND GERMANY

Diplomatic Relations
To Be Severed?

Washington, To-day.

A resolution demanding investigation into the question of whether the United States would be warranted in severing diplomatic relations with Germany is being prepared by the Democratic Senator King, who declared that Reichsfuehrer Hitler's Government had been oppressing Jews and Catholics and had failed to discharge its obligations to the United States. — Reuter.

Leaders of the ultra-national Black Dragon society have appealed to Mr. Koki Hirota, above, Japanese Foreign Minister, to see that "adequate measures" are taken to settle the Italo-Abyssinian conflict.

YELLOW RIVER LEVEL
SOMEWHAT LOWER

Peiping, To-day.

Swollen by the Yellow River flood water, the Grand Canal, which has been bearing a terrific burden of water lately, burst its banks in six places in 12 hours near Taining yesterday. The breaks vary from 20 to 30 feet wide, flooding many villages.

The six streams are now joining rapidly and are flowing to meet the flood water which overflowed from the Nanyang Lake the previous day.

One optimistic feature of the Shantung floods is the reported fall in the level of the Yellow River. — Reuter.

TWO TYPHOONS IN PACIFIC OCEAN

No Immediate Promise
Of Trouble

Messages received at 9.30 a.m. to-day, through the American Consulate-General, from the Manila Observatory announce that two typhoons are in existence over the nearby section of the Pacific Ocean.

One was situated at 8.45 a.m. to-day in Longitude 143 degrees East, Latitude 17 North, moving north-west. This is a point about 200 miles west of the Ladrone Islands, and the typhoon is too far away from land to do any particular damage.

The captain of the P. & O. freighter, Behar, which arrived in port to-day from England, reports that his ship encountered the worst monsoon weather he has experienced for many years.

From Suez the atmosphere continued very sticky and when they entered the Sea of Arabia they had to plough through very heavy seas, the result being that they could make very little headway.

INTERPORT CRICKET

ARDUOUS STRUGGLE FORESEEN

ABYSSINIA TO STAND
TO LAST MAN

COLOURED CRUSADE AGAINST COLONISING NATIONS?

—CHINA MAIL—SPECIAL

Paris, To-day.

"War between Italy and Abyssinia will be the signal for the alliance of all the coloured races against the whites—for a crusade against the colonising nations," declared the Abyssinian Minister in London in an interview with the correspondent of the "Echo de Paris" which the paper published yesterday evening.

In the Minister's opinion Italy had spent many millions and had despatched 200,000 men to Africa, and it was too late for her to abandon her plan.

The Abyssinians, however, would defend their independence to the last man. The slaughter would be ghastly and Abyssinia would be ruined if must be, but there was a God in heaven and the day of retribution would come.

In any case the campaign would be arduous and long. The Italian troops were already suffering greatly from the climate and it would be difficult to utilise the modern weapons against Abyssinia.

"If England and France care to give Italy territory from their own possessions, let them do so," concluded Mr. Martin, "for Abyssinia will not."

A distinguished member of the British Parliament, states the usually well-informed L'Ouvre, arrived in Paris on Tuesday and put a feeler out as to what political price England would have to pay for receiving the aid of the French fleet in preventing the Italo-Abyssinian conflict, which would mean blocking the entrance of the Suez Canal to Italian transport ships.

The paper does not take this proposal seriously, but cites it as evidence of England's desire to prevent war at all costs.

A message from London states that no licences to export arms or munitions to Italy or Abyssinia have been granted during the last four months. The President of the Board of Trade, Mr. Walter Runciman, told the House of Commons last night—Trans-Ocean Service.

Arms Exports From Japan?

NEITHER CONFIRMED NOR DENIED

Tokyo, Yesterday.

Questioned concerning the reported arms exports to Ethiopia, the army authorities remarked that many irresponsible rumours were in circulation in that connection, with the apparent object of involving Japan in the Italo-Ethiopian dispute. But they refused either to confirm or deny them, declaring that they did not see any necessity to state whether Japan is exporting or is not exporting munitions to Ethiopia. — Reuter.

Japanese Society Takes A Hand

—CHINA MAIL—SPECIAL

Tokyo, To-day.

The leaders of the ultra-national "Black Dragon" society, which was largely responsible for Japan's declaration of war against Russia in 1904 and her withdrawal from the League of Nations, has decided to cable Signor Mussolini denouncing Italy's attitude in Ethiopia and urging him to withdraw his troops and abandon his policy of aggression.

They also called on the Premier, the Foreign Minister, and the Ministers for War and the Navy and requested them to take "adequate measures" to settle the Italo-Ethiopian conflict. — Reuter.

COLOUR RETURNS TO WEDDINGS

Pale Pink And Blue Fashionable

SOME RECENT MODELS IN BRIDAL GOWNS

Brides still have the centre of the stage. Few take chances on anything out of the traditional white for wedding gowns, however, despite the fact that the designers are showing ice blue satin with matching tulle veils and even brighter colours.

Some of the most dramatic brides the fashionable world has seen stood before marriage altars last month. Colour is back in the bridal pageant and pale pink and pale blue brides. Indian "sari" veils. Red Ridinghood veils and pearl bonnets will all be seen. From head dresses to bouquets, wedding costumes have been dramatised in a way to give brides new food for thought.

Mainbocher dresses a bride in a trailless gown of soft shell pink georgette belted in pink hydrangeas, with a hooded, knee length veil of pink tulle reminiscent of Red Ridinghood's, rimmed next the hairline with more pink hydrangeas. Lelong robes another in a slender trained gown of the palest blue crepe with a long floating tulle veil of the same shade.

POWDER BLUE AND ROYAL BLUE

Smartest Of Sports Combinations

Powder blue and royal blue make quite the smartest sport combination, and Jean Harlow, appearing in "China Seas," wears it in the form of a chic, Adrian-designed suit.

The tailored skirt is of powder blue flannel and the coat of the same material in royal blue. A powder blue Ascot scarf, royal blue hat and shoes complete the ensemble.

Accessories For All Costumes

One Set Is Enough For Whole Wardrobe

INVALUABLE WHITE

Three parts white, one part bright, dark or pastel is the favourite formula for summer ensembles that allows one set of white accessories to serve unlimited frocks, jacket dresses and suits.

Accessories that will complement the greatest number of daytime frocks include wrist length doekskin gloves, soft summer felt hat, perforated calf pumps and a washable white bag (either linen or the pyralin that may be cleaned with a damp cloth).

With this grouping there is enough variation to make accessory shopping individual as well as practical.

White Hats

There are berets, brims, turbans and classic sports felts in hats. There are linen, calfskin and kidskin in spectator types of shoes. There are popular wrist lengths. There are fabric, linen, doekskin gloves in the linen, pyralin, calfskin or kidskin bags. Each of these materials is styled in spectator sports type of accessories that happily look right with both tailored and softer versions of the shirtwaist frock.

Shirtwaist frocks are to be found in a wide range of fabrics and colours—from the gay striped or plaid cottons to the pretty English garden prints with lingerie touches; from the sportive tub silks to the duli finished acetates that adopt contrasting scarfs, buttons or belts.

Mint green, orange, navy, wine, casper pink and baby blue—to name a few—are among the shades present in spectator sports frocks this summer. They do not have to be ensembled with white (not when stylists are touting navy for raspberry pink, navy for yellow, red for gray and white for aqua). But if you want one set of accessories to serve a whole palette of summer frock colours that set will most certainly be white.

MAKE-UP SETS OF ANCIENT TIMES

Delicately Moulded Jars And Bowls

The American Archaeological Expedition, delving for remains of the ancient Mycenaean civilisations buried around the celebrated Acropolis, has brought up tiny, delicately moulded, coloured vanity jars and bowls used by the women of remote times for lip rouge, face powder and various aromatic oils and unguents.

In some of these jars small quantities of black pigment for colouring the eyebrows and eye-lashes were found. Face powder and pigments of various tints also were discovered, all having the same chemical base as the face powders of to-day.

Husband Persuaded Her To Take Kruschen

By following her husband's advice, this woman took off 32 lbs. of her excess fat. Telling of her experience, she writes:—
"A year ago I was troubled with rheumatism, nervousness and other complaints. And I got so fat that I was ashamed of my figure. I was persuaded by my husband to take Kruschen. Before I began, I weighed 11 st. 7 lbs. After taking Kruschen for a short time the rheumatism was less painful, my nerves got stronger, and my step lighter. Then I knew that Kruschen was doing me good, so I persevered with it and got my weight down to 9 st. 3 lbs., a reduction of 32 lbs. of unwanted fat. I am not boasting when I say that I feel younger and more active, have a much better figure, and am healthier than I have been for years."—(Mrs.) J. S.
Kruschen is a blend of six mineral salts which assist the internal organs to throw off each day those waste products that would otherwise accumulate in the form of fatty tissue.

SHEATH FROCKS AGAIN

Constricted Knees, Sweeping Frills

FUR TRIMMING ON COTTON IN SOME MODELS

There are many variations of the sheath, both as regards material and as regards accessories. The frill or flounce is freely used. A slim, fitting frock may have two springing flounces below the knees and having rather the effect of constraining the wearer to remain upright.

White, taffetas can be used for a slim dress with a little frill at the neck and two big ones set on irregularly below the knees. Sometimes only one frill is used to sweep the ground. Then it may have a heading of some decorative material.

If taffetas is used for a great many of these flounced frocks cotton is also extremely fashionable, and nobody minds in the least trimming cotton with fur, which may serve as the heading to the flounce. Plain organdie can be used, while embroidered organdie is popular. This, with fur, makes a surprising combination.

PEASANT STYLES IN HATS

Normandy Headgear As Paris Fashion

Velvet hats for fashionable femininity inspired by French peasant coifs walked out on the summer style scene when Heim showed his new mid-season collection.

They were designed with soft crowns and turned-back folded brims which recalled the headgear of peasant women from Normandy and were worn set well back on the head. Other striking "chapeaux" were fashioned of straw in dashing wide-brimmed models borrowed from beach styles and adapted to town wear.

The first step in the final testing of any new inventions is the building of a working model. If the model is a success, so is the invention, and vice versa. The correct approach to any mechanical science is through model building.

In aeronautics this is particularly true. You build the model aeroplane out of balsa and tissue, power them with rubber, fly them, and in a few weeks time you are talking intelligently about lift, drag, torque, wing-loading, etc.

Recent Developments
Model aviation has developed unbelievably in the last five years. The Society of Model Aeronautical Engineers in England and the Junior Birdmen of America in the United States are but a few of the many organisations and clubs interested in the promotion of model aeronautics.

The rise of popularity of model aeroplanes during the past few years has been tremendous. Thousands of schools are adopting model aviation in their manual training departments either as regular or spare-time study. The reason for this popularity is not hard to find. There is a fascination in the little planes that fly so smoothly and land so realistically. Furthermore, any boy can build them with but a few simple tools.

BRIDGE NOTES

Unconventional Defence

By Ely Culbertson

Good defence is not only a matter of memorising conventional leads and discards, but is to an even greater extent dependent upon the player's ability to visualise a complete hand. The defensive player should remember what the opposing contract is and, by the simple process of subtracting, figure out the number of tricks needed to defeat this contract. He should then grope about for a method of obtaining these tricks, and he should make any play which seems to offer the best chance of so doing even though this play seems to contradict every well-known convention of card playing.

On the hand below East was able to defeat a rather ambitious North and South contract by being far-sighted enough to make a play which to a beginner would seem to be a form of suicide.

MODEL AEROPLANE BUILDING

Interesting Sparetime Relaxation

HOBBY FOR BOTH OLD AND YOUNG

(By Wong Suey Hoy)
Model aeroplane building and flying is a fine hobby to enable us to pass our leisure time pleasantly and at the same time learn something about aerodynamics, and also to cultivate friendship through mutual interest in model building.

Imagine the fun of building a tiny plane that will leave the ground under its own power, circle gracefully around the room for more than a minute, and swoop to a perfect three-point landing on its own landing gear; or perhaps a three-foot fuselage monoplane that will take off with but a run of a few feet and nose its way majestically towards the sky, climbing madly over house tops and trees, and finally land after a 1,000-foot flight with the grace of a bird.

Follow the instructions that are published in this paper weekly, and you will be able to make such planes and many other types, easily and without failure.

Educational Value
Model aeroplane flying is not only an interesting hobby and a fascinating sport, but is also very educational. It will teach the beginner the rudiments of aviation, and parents should encourage their boys to build planes, it provides the necessary manual training for youngsters. Not only boys but grown-ups will find model building a fine way of spending their spare time.

Hennessy Seth, owners of vacant premises at 31, Gage Street, ground floor, were fined $5 by Mr. Schofield at the Central Magistracy yesterday on a summons for failing to comply with a notice served by the Sanitary Board to abate a nuisance, namely the accumulation of household refuse on the roof of the kitchen.

Mr. Seth stated that the Sanitary Board notice had not been given to a contractor to remove the rubbish and it was understood that it had been done.

FILIPINO MOVE AGAINST JAPANESE TEXTILES

Manila.—In view of the tremendous increase in the imports of Japanese textiles, which threaten to oust completely the American production from the Philippine markets, Mr. Frank Murphy, the Governor-General, recently asked the Philippine Legislature immediately to pass a bill raising the customs tariff on textile products.

One case of typhoid fever was the only notifiable disease reported as having occurred in the Colony during the 24 hours ended Wednesday.

CHINESE BOXER BEATEN

Long Sing-que Loses In New York

New York, July 15.
Bernie Frieden, New York bantam-weight, outpointed Long Sing-que, the American-born Chinese fighter, in a bout which lasted only four rounds here to-night.

Both boxers entered the ring over the class weight limit. Frieden, tipping the scales at 121½ and Long at 123, Frieden's victory came by decision when the Chinese was unable to come up for the fifth round—United Press.

The opportunity to become heavyweight boxing champion of the world was grasped with both hands by Jimmy Braddock in his New York title battle with Max Baer.

GERMANY BEATEN

Henkel was extremely nervous in the first set and Allison monotonously reeled off point after point to secure an early advantage at 6-1 after only 15 minutes' play.
Allison gave a lethargic display at the opening of the second set, and Henkel, who took no risks and occasionally served an ace, led 3-1 and 5-2. Allison, however, recovered and stormed the net whenever possible following deep driving. Despite brilliant volleying by the American, Henkel held set point in the tenth game, but Allison saved the situation with a great "kill" from mid-court.

ALLISON ALMOST EXHAUSTED

The German occasionally made several fine passing shots, but the play was not up to Tuesday's standard. Allison appearing almost exhausted before the end of the second set, which went to 12 games.
Still showing signs of tiredness, Allison, with the match within his grasp, seemed to be unable to produce the strength to finish off his opponent in the third set. His volleying was suffering as a result, and it appeared as if Henkel, who led 3-1 as the result of careful base line play, would level the scores for Germany.

Allison, however, made a desperate rally and pulled up to 3-1. Henkel then led 5-3 only to fall to stave off Allison's determined challenge. Having come on level terms at 5-all, Allison lost two successive match points when leading 7-6 before he went out at 9-7 after an extremely plucky display.

LISTLESS VON CRAMM

Donald Budge, apparently playing to retain his place in the challenging team next Saturday, gave a brilliant all-round display against von Cramm, despite the fact that little or no importance was attached to the match.
Budge lost the first set to love (during which the German displayed the fast and accurate driving which took him to the Wimbledon Final) as the result of being hurried into errors at the net and in his positioning.

Setting down, however, Budge revealed superb control, and launched a hot counter-attack in the second set. Von Cramm was non-plussed at this recovery and lost his former accuracy to drop the set at 9-7.

BUDGE'S FINE RALLY

Von Cramm jumped into a 5-2 lead in the third set, but Budge rallied splendidly and hit winners almost at will, von Cramm, with nothing to lose, refusing to respond to the terrific pace. His American rival had set Budge, then levelled at 5-all, lost 6-5, and took a 2-1 lead in sets at 8-6.
The German did not trouble to stem Budge's rush of great all-round play in the fourth set and

QUADRANGULAR SWIMMING GALA AT EUROPEAN "Y"

August 7 Selected As Date

TWO EVENTS FOR SCHOOL CHILDREN

At a meeting held by the Swimming Committee of the European Y.M.C.A. on Monday it was proposed to hold a quadrangular swimming gala between the East Lancs., Lincoln, Royal Artillery, and Y.M.C.A. on Wednesday, August 7, at 9.15 p.m.

The invitation programme will be the same as that of the triangular gala between the E. Lancs., Lincoln, and Y.M.C.A. last month which proved to be such a success, with the exception of the 220 Yards race. It was proposed that either a 440 Yards or an 880 Yards race be substituted.

The water polo match at the conclusion of the meeting will be between the Y.M.C.A. and the Royal Artillery.

Two events are being arranged for the children of the Central British School.

The programme will include the following events:
Men's 50 Yards Free Style (Invitation)
Ladies' 50 Yards Aggregate H'cap.
Men's 220 Yards Invitation Relay
Men's 50 Yards Aggregate H'cap.
Men's 25 Yards (Two classes, Novices and "A" Class).

Invitation Diving
440 Yards or 880 Yards Invitation Race
Mixed Relay or Mixed Follow the Leader (top diving board debarred)
50 Yards Mixed Arithmetic Race (Teams of two, man will swim 25 yards with paper bearing a sum in an envelope, lady will work sum out and swim, the remaining 25 yards).

The secret of success will be keeping the paper dry as working must be done with an "indelible pencil".
50 Yards Handicap (For boys of the C.B.S.)
25 Yards Handicap (For girls of the C.B.S.)

Early Entries Requested

Entry forms will be posted up in the Y.M.C.A. Men's and Ladies' Sections and intending entrants are requested to sign their names before next Thursday, as time trials will take place during Mixed Bathing on Friday night at 6.30 p.m.

It was also proposed at the meeting to have the Y.M.C.A. Championships divided into two days for the September and October trials, but the suggestion was carried forward to the next meeting.

went down at 6-3 for the match.

EARLIER RESULTS

Donald Budge (U.S.) beat Heinrich Henkel (Germany) 7-5, 11-3, 6-1.
Gottfried von Cramm (Germany) beat Wilmar Allison (U.S.) 8-6, 6-3, 6-4.
W. Allison and John Van Ryn (U.S.) beat G. von Cramm and Lund (Germany) 6-3, 6-3, 5-7, 9-7, 8-6.

SECOND CHALLENGE

For the second year in succession America will meet Great Britain, holders of the famous trophy for the past two years, in the Challenge Round at Wimbledon, next Saturday, Monday, and Tuesday.

It will be America's fifth challenge in the past seven years. Last year Frank Shields and Sidney Wood both lost to Fred Perry and Bunny Austin, while George Lott and Lester Stoecken secured America's only match by beating Harold Lee and Pat Hughes in straight sets.

This year Fred Perry, despite his recent lapse against the Australian team in a friendly match at Eastbourne, is expected to win both his singles matches against Sidney Wood and Donald Budge, while Bunny Austin is expected to win at least one. The British doubles pair, Pat Hughes and C.R.D. Tuckey, are not conceded much chance against Allison and Van Ryn, who beat them by a comfortable margin in the semi-final round at Wimbledon earlier in the month.

Nothing to fear from good-natured Primo Carnera, despite his giant size, smiles little Myra Levy as she rubs good-luck grease on his gloves at the Auburn, New York, training camp, where Da Preem prepared for his unsuccessful bout with Joe Louis.

CRICKET FIELD STORIES GRAVE AND GAY

WHY JOHNNY DOUGLAS HID HIS FACE

(By Laurie Eastman, the Essex All-Rounder).

FIRST-CLASS cricket is a strenuous affair and often grim. Playing six days a week, and travelling the length and breadth of the country is not all honey, but even when things are at their worst we manage to get a lot of fun out of the game or out of our travels. Here are just a few personal recollections which prove the point.

I played first of all as an amateur along with the late J. W. H. T. Douglas, one of the finest sportsmen I shall ever meet, the late Charlie McGahey, and Mr. Percy Perrin, the present Test selector.

My old captain, Mr. Douglas, was not only a great player, but there was never a keener cricketer, and at times his enthusiasm was amusing. I well remember one match in the West Country when nothing had gone right for us in the field. Catch after catch had been dropped, and the skipper became almost frantic.

He Guessed Right

Finally Mr. Douglas, who was bowling, got the batsman to mis-hit a ball, to cover-point—the easiest of catches really. As the ball came down towards the hands of the felder John dare not look, but hid his face in the umpire's coat.

SLOW CRICKET

Sir Stanley Jackson Speaks Out

"BATTING IN BUILT-UP AREA"

The new 1lb rule, slow cricket and the difficulties of Test Selection Committees were commented upon by Sir Stanley Jackson in a speech at Manchester on June 27. He likened the slow batsman to a motorist. "Some of the players I have watched," said Sir Stanley, "become obsessed with the signs they see when they are motoring, and when they are batting they suddenly get obsessed with the idea that they are batting in a built-up area."

"We have no speed limit in cricket, but I feel that the fellows who play must realise that the public who go to matches and pay—and what is more, pay entertainment tax—are entitled to some entertainment for the tax. We want to see the game speeded up in a sensible way."

"I know he'll miss it," moaned the captain. In due course came the umpire's reply: "It's all right, sir, he has."

One of the best stories of John Douglas relates to an incident which occurred at Colchester. On this particular occasion, against Lancashire, we were doing badly to Ted MacDonald's fast bowling. The captain came in, and was determined that MacDonald would not frighten him out. He refused to move from the one end, and with the ball flying all over the place he had a pretty painful time.

One That Jumped

Eventually MacDonald got an extra fast one to jump up and it hit the skipper on the side of the head. The ball incidentally flew off to cover point, and was caught by Harry Makepeace.

YOUNGSTER WITH BLEND OF McLOUGHLIN & VINES

MAKO BEATEN BY VON CRAMM AT WIMBLEDON

(By A. Wallis Myers)

London, June 29.

TWO seeded players fell at Wimbledon yesterday before they had run their allotted course—Christian Boussus, France's No. 1, in the men's singles, and Miss M. C. Scriven, England's No. 2, in the women's singles.

In both cases the execution was surprisingly swift; the victims were pinioned by strong and merciless hands; they could never shake themselves free.

Donald Budge, the first to reach the last eight, was the undoing of Boussus. This 19-year-old lad from the Far West, with red hair and a reticent tongue, is a blend of McLoughlin and Vines, both natives of his State, both ex-champions of America.

Budge has McLoughlin's hair and fresh complexion, and treads with the same softness, leaving no imprint on the turf. His strokes have the smooth fluency of Vines without, as yet, all their fiery pace.

The ball is struck in service and smash with the same easy action and perfect timing; there are no "preliminaries"; the stroke has been bequeathed by Nature; it is clean, appealing tennis.

Boussus Spell-Bound

Boussus, the first of four left-handers to appear consecutively on the centre court, seemed spell-bound in the first two sets.

Budge shot through all his defences, served aces with his service as if he were practising against a marker, piled-up backhand winners so that when he swung to make them the eye of the spectator travelled instinctively to the twinkling light on the score-board.

This kind of tomahawking against a player of the Frenchman's class could scarcely last. Nor did it. The blows rained by Budge began to weaken in their force and finality.

Frenchman Rallies

Boussus started to get forcing shots off the service, to initiate his own coupe, in short, to look more like the great player he is.

A break-through the Californian service seemed to refresh his soul, and when he got another two games later and the set was his at 6-3, "Toto" Brugnon gave him a wave of encouragement from the stand. Alas for Christian's hopes, his effort had merely applied the touchstone to Budge's reserves.

The American took the fourth set in fourteen minutes, hitting winners all round the court, and by his display confirming the very high impression formed of his calibre.

TO-DAY'S BOWLS

Three Encounters In Open Tourney

BRADBURY TO CLASH WITH C. G. SILVA

Three more games in the Fourth Round of the Colony Lawn Bowls Singles Championship will be played this afternoon, two in Hong Kong and one on the mainland, weather permitting.

The clash between R. W. Bradbury, of Craigengower, and C. G. Silva, of the Recreo, should provide the feature of to-day's games. Bradbury and Silva are well matched, but if there is a balance either way it is probably with the latter.

R. Duncan, who played so well earlier in the week in a pairs game, will have to reproduce that form if he is to get the better of A. Macfarlane, for the Football Club player is one of long experience and some skill.

J. C. Brown meets a very much younger opponent in W. K. Way, of Craigengower, although Way has learned enough during the two years he has been playing to give the Bowling Green skip a good game.

To-day's programme is as follows:—

Singles

R. Duncan v A. Macfarlane (Recreo)
B. W. Bradbury v C. G. Silva (Tahkoo)
W. K. Way v J. V. Brown (Civil Service)

BOXER CATCHES FATAL CHILL

JOHNNY QUILL PASSES

Johnny Quill, the 24-year-old London boxer, of Stepney, died in St. George's Hospital early last month from pleurisy.

Quill, who was a promising boxer and a contender for the welter-weight championship of Great Britain, went to Brighton seven weeks previously to train for his fight with Charlie Baxter in the eliminating bout for the Southern Area welter-weight championship.

Baxter was taken ill and was unable to attend on the night of the fight at Clapton Stadium. Pat Butler, the welter-weight champion, was substituted, but Quill caught a chill and he himself was unable to appear.

The chill developed, and Quill was taken to hospital. He had been in bed for five weeks before an operation was performed on him. The operation was successful, but he had a relapse and died.

Jardine's Former Skipper Bound For New Zealand

F. W. Gilligan, who is to take up a post as headmaster of a school in New Zealand, is the eldest of the three brothers—F. W., A. E. R., and A. H. H. He was still one of the best amateur wicket-keepers since the war.

In 1919 he did that rare thing—played against his own brother, A. E. R., in the Varsity cricket match. Both brothers distinguished themselves, F. W. making a most valuable 70 in the first two days. Gilligan was in poor health at the time, and, although then all-important, difference with the Lord's authorities as to the time of starting Lord's said 11.30, the Universities 12 noon.

And it never started for 2½ days!

In 1920 F. W. Gilligan captained one of the best Oxford teams that have ever gone to Lord's. It included D. R. Jardine, G. T. S. Stevens, and that grand Australian leg-break bowler and bitter Dr. R. H. Bettington.

G. E. C. Wood, an even finer stumpster, was captain of Cambridge. The match was a fiasco. It rained for the whole of the first two days. Gilligan was in poor health at the time, and, although then all-important, difference with the Lord's authorities as to the time of starting Lord's said 11.30, the Universities 12 noon.

And it never started for 2½ days!

Sports Chatter

(By JEOFFREY SIMPSON)

London, June 25.
WITH all the care that a groundsman showers on a Test cricket wicket, he cannot stop fieldsmen running about on it. Harry White, the Lord's groundsman, was reflecting ruefully on the truth of this yesterday as he stood watching the country players galloping across his precious pitch.

If it isn't leather-jackets, or drought, it's humans! Still, White seemed to be satisfied with the stretch of turf on which England will again essay the task of beating South Africa on Saturday.

"It was a real beauty before the storm," he said. "It was as good as any I have prepared in the last 25 years. Now it isn't so good, but if the weather helps it will be all right."

ONE GOOD TURN
SO many matches are played at Lord's in addition to the county fixtures that it is difficult to give the "middle" a fair chance to recover.

But the leather-jackets did White one useful turn. The plague decided the authorities to keep spectators off the ground this season.

There is no promenading or public inspection of wickets, with the result that there is much more grass than is usual.

RECOVERY TOO DATE
THE most interested as well as the most disappointed follower of the Test match will be Norman Mitchell-Innes, who had to drop out of the England team because of hay fever.

He was playing again yesterday, so there cannot be much wrong with him now!

It was a terrible set-back for him when he failed in the first Test, and when his father phoned him to say that he had been chosen again he could scarcely believe it.

Perhaps his chance will come yet, for the selectors think highly of this 21-years-old batsman. Mr. P. F. Warner and his colleagues did not decide to omit him until they had taken expert advice on the effects of hay fever.

I am told it sometimes cause a temporary black-out—and that would be awkward in a big match.

FARNDON'S TITLE
FROM Farndon gave such a smashing display for England in the last speedway Test that he is well fancied as the winner of the British individual championship, which will be decided to-night at Wembley.

Only a short time ago quite a number expected to take the title, which Farndon holds—until he emerged top-scorer with 14 points in the Test.

His opponent to-night in the deciding race will be Dicky Case, who did so well for Australia, so there will be a real international flavour about the contest.

Farndon generally manages to do well on the Wembley track. It was there that he retained his championship against Max Groszkrentz last season by means of an amazing broadside at the last bend.

THE PHILOSOPHER

SITTING in a pool of water at the Petersen fight, Mr. Arthur Elvin, the cheerful philosopher, greeted everyone with a smile.

It is good to see a promoter who can accept such a cruel disappointment with the weather so unconcernedly.

"I'm used to these things," he couched. "We had 7,000 people in the swimming pool on Sunday when it was hot, and six people on the Friday!"

He even joked about the rain which kept thousands planned to have running water laid on at the ringside for the boxers' use, but the afternoon storm stopped the work.

Looking up at the pelting rain, the Wembley manager observed: "Well, they have got the running water after all!"

A device being developed by the International News Photo gathering organisation serving the "China Mail" transmits pictures between ordinary telephones anywhere by the utilisation of sound signals. The photograph below, showing Alabama Pitts, ex-convict, in his professional baseball debut at Albany, New York, was scanned by a photoelectric cell which converted highlights and shadows into sound and sent them over an ordinary telephone instrument to other cities, where machines to which the phone receiver was attached reduced the sounds again to impulses and reproduced the photograph in the form shown at top. The device is much simpler than any previous photo-transmission system.

Like Maurice McLoughlin, to whom I have referred, Budge is strengthening his game in every match. It was McLoughlin, then, unknown, who turned up at Newport, Rhode Island, from San Francisco, without a racket or any tennis kit.

He was induced to enter for the American championship and won the All-Comers Singles after beating Beals Wright. He only lost to Larned, the reigning champion, in the challenge round. Next year he was champion.

Perry In Last Eight

Perry and von Cramm are keeping Budge company in the last eight overnight; their five companions will be identified this afternoon.

The champion had a merry, care-free match against Pallada, and probably rejoiced as much as the Yugoslavian, when the third set was taken from him to love. In the other three sets, if a little erratic at times, he was the complete master of the court.

The German champion had a similar passage, free from anxiety, against Mako. He won the first two sets by such majestic tennis—serves, drives and volleys of perfect execution and pitch—that he could afford to ease up in the third set and watch the ebullient Mako practice his sparkling retorts made on the ball's rise.

Act Of Chivalry

It was almost an act of chivalry towards a brave, and let me add a tired, opponent. This interlude ended, Von Cramm, like Budge and Perry, delivered the coup de grace with insistent swiftness.

It is only fair to Mako to add that he was fatigued after his two protracted five-set matches in previous rounds.

Time is now in the German's favour. He has been reconciling his all court game to a turf surface, finding like all complete players who come to grass from a mineral floor, that it ministers to his speed and foot work offering scope to the refiner's art.

RECORDS SHATTERED IN U.S. AQUATIC MEET LENORE KIGHT WINS THIRD TITLE TWO MORE MADISON MARKS BETTERED

New York, July 20.

ANOTHER record crashed to-day in the Women's National Swimming Championships, when the Washington Athletic Club of Seattle, captured the 880 Yards relay in the fast time of 10:37.8. This is a new American mark.

The Carnegie Library Club of Homestead, Pa. was second, and the Women's Swimming Association of New York, third. The Miami Beach Swimming Club took fourth. The winning team was composed of Lou Petty, Betty Lea, Doris Buckley and Olive McKean.

Katherine Rawls retained her title in the 300 Metres individual medley swim, winning the event in 4:38.5. June Burr, of Coral Gables placed second, Johanna Gorman of Homestead, third, and Evelyn Rawls of Miami Beach fourth. — Associated Press.

An earlier message stated that Lenore Kight set another new American record in the National A.A.U. championship meet, swimming the 440 Yards free style event in 5 minutes, 33.2 seconds to retain her title.

Elizabeth Kompa, of New York, won the backstroke title for 220 Yards in 2 minutes, 53.9 seconds.

Katherine Rawls captured the 220 Yards breaststroke title, finishing five feet ahead of Dorothy Schiller.

Helen Madison held the former 440 Yards free style record of 5 minutes, 31 seconds, but it was made in a 25-yard pool.

Miss Kight set a new American record for the mile swim, covering the distance in 24 minutes, 20.4 seconds to secure her third national title.

O'DOUL MAY TAKE BASEBALL TEAM TO MANILA

Star Squad

LEFTY ONE OF BABE RUTH'S
TOURING PARTY

San Francisco, July 17.
Lefty O'Doul said to-day he would be glad to take his Pacific Coast League all-star baseball team to the Philippines late this year following the projected trip to Japan in October.

The San Francisco Seal's manager and former major league star said the team would leave here in October and play about a month in Japan. Afterward he said they would be glad to go to the Philippines for as much as two weeks.

O'Doul was commenting on Manila dispatches saying the Philippine Amateur Athletic Federation planned to invite the coast leaguers to play a series with the best Filipino outfits in the same manner as Babe Ruth's American league outfit last December. O'Doul said he had not yet received the P. A. A. F. invitation.

Lefty was in Manila with Babe Ruth's aggregation, but did not play. The big leaguers played games at Honolulu, a series in Japan, performed at Shanghai and then played three games at Manila.

The veteran O'Doul is well known in the Far East, having coached Japanese baseball teams for a number of years.—Associated Press.

ATLANTIC SERVICE FLYING BOATS WILL BE BUILT IN ENGLAND

ROUTE TO BE OPENED NEXT YEAR

PRELIMINARY TALKS COMPLETED

BERMUDA AND THE AZORES TO BE USED AS BASES

FLYING boats are to be built in England for an Atlantic service — between Liverpool and New York — which is planned for next year. Following negotiations between the Liverpool Corporation and the Bellanca Aircraft firm of America, the corporation has leased to the aircraft constructors nine acres fronting the Mersey and adjoining the aerodrome, and also a further 400 acres and slips for the construction of the boats.

Mr. Kronick, who has come from the U.S.A. to complete the negotiations, and who is forming the British International Aircraft Distributing Co., Ltd., to operate the route, said: "We are awaiting details from the Bellanca Corporation concerning the type of boat and hope to start on construction soon."

"They are prepared to send over a seaplane via Bermuda and the Azores to start the Atlantic service. It will have a crew of three and a range of 2,400 miles."

"The seaplanes carry 10 to 12 passengers. They can be delivered in 2½ months from the date of order and cost $20,000 dollars ($16,000)."

A Bellanca seaplane which has passed American tests and which is being delivered to a Continental firm, is flying to Liverpool in a few weeks' time and is to be used for demonstrations here.

A second is being ordered for the Liverpool-New York service, and others will be built at Liverpool to the specifications of these two.

FIGHTING MACHINES ON TRIAL

World Contest In Belgium

CLIMBING REQUIREMENTS

London. The Belgian Government has arranged for an international competition of single-seater fighter aeroplanes, to be held at Evre Aerodrome from July 15.

On the occasion of a previous contest of the kind a British pilot, confident in the strength of his machine, did a "power dive" at more than 400 m.p.h., achieving a great triumph, with the result that the Fairey Aviation Co. was able to set up an aeroplane factory in Belgium. None of the other competitors dared risk the terminal velocity dive.

A Fairey machine will again compete in the coming contest, and other types expected are a Dewoitine (Hispano-Suiza engine), Fiat (Gnome-Rhone), Avia (Gnome-Rhone), P.Z.L. (Gnome-Rhone), Fokker (Hispano-Suiza), and Mureaux (Hispano-Suiza).

The following are the Belgian requirements: A speed of 400 k.p.h. (248.4 miles per hour) at a height of 5,000 metres (16,400ft); duration of two hours at eight-tenths of full power; climb to 5,000 metres (16,400 ft) in 6 min. and a landing speed not exceeding 74½ m.p.h.

The machine must carry either one 20 mm. gun and two machine-guns, or four machine-guns and four 10 lb. bombs.

PORTABLE HEATER DEvised

An electric and gas heater, portable and adjustable in height, has been devised for warming up aeroplane motors. This device is said to prolong the life of the motor eliminating the long warm-up period formerly necessary.

SUB-ZERO FLYING

According to the U.S. War and Navy Departments, the army aviation personnel will undergo a period of training in cold weather operations at a base near Duluth for the purpose of testing equipment while operating under sub-zero conditions.

Planes Like Motor-Cars Are Offered To Private Fliers

Two British cabin aeroplanes, ideal for private owners, which have just been put on the market, show many points in common with a high quality saloon car.

The Monospar "Jubilee," which has five comfortable bucket seats, has a dipping headlamp.

Its two engines, set on the wings, may be started from the cabin. Radio is fitted as standard.

Sublinals protect the occupants. And a useful guarantee is supplied for engine overhaul.

The other machine is the two-seater Hornet Moth. It has a canopy to match the upholstery. Though the engine is in front,

AIRPORT PLAN FOR LONDON

PLATFORM OVER CANNON STREET STATION

EXPERT ADVICE SOUGHT BY CORPORATION

A $5,000,000 scheme for a great landing platform for air liners high above the street at Cannon-street Railway Station, London, is now being considered by the City Lands Committee of the City Corporation.

The committee are investigating possible sites and plans for an airport in the heart of the City. A sum of £750 was granted to them to obtain expert advice on the question.

This new plan is the one that has met with most favour.

Air Ministry opinion has been sought. Experts from the Ministry have attended meetings of the committee.

Operators of the principal airlines have been asked for their opinion on the scheme, and most of them have said they are willing to co-operate if the plan can be proved practicable.

But officials of the City Corporation refused to deny—or confirm—reports that money is to be raised for the building of this remarkable airport.

The airport would be a vast platform, with long runways radiating from it in every prevailing wind direction, so that air-planes could land in any wind.

In Fog The whole structure would be at least 400 feet above the street level.

St. Paul's Cathedral, the highest building in the City, is 365 feet high.

Critics of the scheme point out that in a typical London fog the platform would be useless.

The radio beacon, used in America and Germany and other European countries, with the aid of which the pilot can fly entirely blind, is the answer to that.

Part of the central platform would be reserved for gyroplanes and helicopters.

The platform would be supported by a great skyscraper building, and it is estimated that the rents from offices in this skyscraper, combined with landing fees from airlines using the airport, would pay off the $5,000,000 initial cost in ten years.

"FLYING FLEA" PLANES FOR ALL PURSES

MOVEMENT GOING AHEAD

ALL IN COST OF £30

The British "Flying Flea" movement is going ahead by leaps and bounds.

About 200 people who want to build their own planes for £30 have written to the Air League of the British Empire about it.

And from subsequent inquiries on details that would not arise from idle curiosity, it is deduced that 90 per cent are building, or intend to build.

Many others are believed to be constructing from the original book, in French, by M. Mignet, the inventor.

Several manufacturers of aircraft material, steel, wood, and engines are investigating the market, and are getting ready to quote.

There is a prospect of a second suitable British engine, from the works of Scott, Shipley, of motor-cycle fame.

They contemplate a two-cylinder two-stroke of 25 horse-power, at less than £50.

Five Nearly Ready Present regulations, if strictly enforced, are not helpful to cheap home-made planes.

Anyway, there is a spirit in the Air Ministry conducive to combining assistance to the small man with consideration alike of his pocket and his safety.

Five Fleas are nearly ready, but for the engine.

Possibly the first to fly will be that built for Air Commodore Chamier, secretary-general of the Air League of the British Empire.

The English version of Mignet's book will be ready in three weeks unless there is delay with the illustrations.

People who want to start work can get specifications of the chief items from the "Flea" Club, Air League of the British Empire, 19, Berkeley-street, London, W.1.

On consecutive week-ends Captain Campbell, who finished first with Scott in a D. H. Comet in the London to Melbourne air race, plans to make the long-distance flights outlined on this map. He will return to England after each hop.

AMPHIBIAN'S FEAT

GETS INTO AIR AND CLIMBS ON ONE MOTOR

VAST POSSIBILITIES

THE day when aeroplane have to sacrifice speed and performance in order to be able to land both on the water and on the earth is gone.

For recently a test of a new Sikorsky amphibian was successfully completed in Bridgeport, Conn., which proved rather definitely that this new type of ship will offer no concessions to land planes merely because of its boat-shaped body.

For it performed the unprecedented feat of taking off and climbing to 200 feet altitude on one motor after the fuel pressure had dropped on the other motor, forcing it to idle. This was the first time Capt. Boris Serzhevsky, chief test pilot of the Sikorsky plant, said that he had ever done it or had known of an amphibian getting into the air on one motor.

Emergency Landing Fields Potentially the craft's land-water role makes of every pond and stream an emergency landing field. And if there is no pond or stream handy, the new S-43 can take the shock of an emergency landing directly upon its sturdy hull without injury to its passengers. The plane has a special re-

Inroads Into Abyssinia

There appears to be a great deal of force in Japan's contention that the Italian press is indulging in a "clear and systematic plot to develop the Italo-Ethiopian dispute into a general conflict between the coloured and white races, and in this manner endeavouring to force Britain and France to protect the Italian policy," but there are few enough grounds, in all conscience, for assuming that the plot is likely to succeed. The attitude of the British Government has been consistent all through this deplorable business; there has been not the slightest official encouragement of Italy's designs in Abyssinia. Every single effort of the British Government has been directed towards effecting a settlement of the matters in dispute through the machinery of the League of Nations. This was inevitable, since the League is now, and has always been since its inception, the cornerstone of British foreign policy.

A great deal of cant is talked in Italy—and elsewhere—about the proverbial Machiavellianism of British policy, and as usual the basest motives have been read into it where possible. When Britain made the almost unprecedented offer of the cession of a corridor to Abyssinia, she was accused of doing so to further her own nefarious ends; when she decides not to place an embargo on the export of arms to either of the two participants in the dispute, the Italian press immediately gives vent to a lot of nonsense about this being proof of Anglo-Ethiopian solidarity, when in fact it is the merest attempt to keep a fair balance between the two contestants; and so on. In short, Italy is using every possible means to bolster up her case, which is as weak as water, in the Abyssinian dispute.

It is not enough to point to the methods adopted years ago when Britain and France were building up their colonial empires for a precedent. There are many vital differences between those times and these, which must be taken into consideration. In those days nobody had signed, sealed and delivered solemn commitments to respect the territorial integrity of other nations; as Italy has done in signing the League Covenant, of which Abyssinia is also a signatory; no Kellogg Pact or Locarno Agreement was in existence, renouncing resource to war as an instrument of national policy; and last, but by no means least, the days when weaker nations might be taken over, bag and baggage, by their stronger brethren without so much as a by your leave and with the help of every sort of cynical exploitation, are past, however much some people might like to recall them.

It would be easy to read into the above the hypocritical smugness of a player who alters the rules of the game after he has derived all the advantages from them. But that would be an injustice to Britain and France, who, after all, can hardly be taken to account at this time of the day for following the rules of the game as they were generally understood at the time. Some of the tactics—and worse—resorted to at the time of the colonial expansion of the great Powers will not bear careful looking into these days; but at the time they conformed to the general practices of the times, extraordinary as they seem to us in these more enlightened days. The real point is that out of the great Powers only Japan, and then Italy, have seen fit to ignore both their solemn promises to the contrary and the general verdict of the civilised world by recourse to methods and practices which the rest of the civilised world has abandoned.

A solemn treaty and Covenant, freely entered into. And it is a significant fact that neither Japan nor Italy, in this much-vaunted desire for expansion at the expense of some other nation, has thought of exploiting anybody as powerful as herself, but in each case has attacked a weaker people and one ill-equipped to combat exploitation by force of arms. Japan made gross inroads into her politically and militarily weak neighbour China; Italy has chosen the one independent people in the continent of Africa the least likely to be able to withstand her force of arms. Briefly, the action in both instances is that of a bully; and in neither case can the methods or the intention be looked upon by the rest of the world but with disgust. Italy will lose the respect of the whole of the civilised world if she persists in her present course of refusing to accept arbitration except on such premises as make arbitration impossible; of rejecting out of hand any compromise proposals unless they are accompanied by conditions which no self-respecting nation could possibly consider. There is no machinery except that of a superior force of arms which would induce Abyssinia to agree to military supervision by Italy; neither the League or anybody else can force a Mandate on Abyssinia, even if she had grossly betrayed the covenant of terms of her membership of it. And it is a moot point

FAMOUS EATER'S MS.

When M. Andre Simon arrived in New York last month, to found an American branch of the Wine and Food Society, he was heralded in the Press with the headlines:

"Famous Eater Arrives Today: British Reformer Hopes to Show America How It's Done." M. Simon is, in fact, not British, but a Frenchman who lives in England—and captains a local cricket team—another hobby besides eating.

Recently, at his home near East Grinstead, he entertained his fellow-members of the Friends of the National Libraries by showing them his collection of books and manuscripts on "The Art of Good Living."

GULLS FOR WOLSEY

Among these are Star Chamber accounts from the time of Henry VIII onwards showing the bills signed by various Chancellors, beginning with Wolsey, for the meals of the half-dozen members of the Royal Council, when they met two or three times a year. The menus included sea-gulls, a dish which would appeal to few connoisseurs to-day, but the accounts show that raw meat was allotted for their feeding, and they were no doubt kept and fattened like a Strasburg goose.

A typical account signed by Wolsey comes to £158 8s 4d—a vast sum in those days. From the frequency with which silver-plate appears in the bills, it looks as if the Crown's guests on these occasions went off with expensive souvenirs.

Frankness

The straightforward young woman believed in telling the truth. She married a very sentimental young man.

"My darling," he said, "surely I cannot be worthy of you."

"Oh, of course not," she answered. "But when a girl's been 23 for six years, she would be silly to be too particular, wouldn't she?"

NEW U.S. TAXATION PROPOSALS

MENACE OF "SOAKING THE RICH"

WAR ON HOLDERS OF GREAT FORTUNES

(By W. F. Bullock)

NINE hectic days and nights left Congress recently in a state of bewilderment, bordering on stupor.

It all began with the special "surprise" Message from President Roosevelt embodying his long-cherished objections to vast concentrations of wealth and culminating in a demand for new drastic taxation of incomes and fortunes of millionaires, or rather multi-millionaires.

The Message reflected the spirit of John Wesley, who said: "If I leave behind me £10 above my debts you and all mankind bear witness against me that I lived a thief and robber."

Mr. Roosevelt's demand was for the breaking up of these vast fortunes by making them bear their fair share of the burdens of the New Deal and for the further taxation of great corporations to cure evils of "bigness" in American industrial life. He also demanded a constitutional amendment which should deprive holders of immense wealth of the bomb-proof shelters allotted for their feeding, and they were no doubt kept and fattened like a Strasburg goose.

A typical account signed by Wolsey comes to £158 8s 4d—a vast sum in those days. From the frequency with which silver-plate appears in the bills, it looks as if the Crown's guests on these occasions went off with expensive souvenirs.

They learned that incidence of estate and legacy duties was on a far broader basis in the British Isles than in the United States; and that it was the middle classes of America rather than millionaires who, by comparison, escaped their fair share of death duties.

Whereas in the British Isles taxes begin with estates of a hundred pounds, American estates under $2,000 enjoy complete immunity, but in the larger categories the American estate duties are already markedly higher than in Great Britain. They reach their maximum of 60 per cent. at $2,000,000, to which in many cases must be added further sums in the form of State taxation.

These taxes the Treasury experts, inspired by President Roosevelt, proposed to supplement by heavy additional inheritance or legacy duties aimed exclusively at the "filthy rich," and beginning only with inheritances of $50,000.

Progressive Rise
From 4 per cent. at that sum they were to rise progressively to 70 per cent. in the case of legacies of $1,400,000 and to 75 per cent. on amounts in excess of $2,000,000.

The proposed increases in income taxes were equally severe on the rich; they raised the amount to be collected on $200,000 to 60 per cent., on $1,000,000 to 75 per cent., and on anything in excess of that sum to 80 per cent.

Apart altogether from the difficulty of collecting these vast amounts in cash—in the case, for instance, of businesses such as Henry Ford's—the question which arose on all sides was: "To what decree will be Government benefit?"

The answer was in the nature of an antidote. It was: $58,000,000—in the circumstances a ridiculously inadequate amount.

Storms Of Expropriation
Further, there is the even more vital consideration that the Government might develop the measure not only from the angle of taxation adjustment but as a weapon against enterprise.

Amid storms of expropriation from business men all over the country, Mr. Roosevelt then dramatically reversed. He received newspaper representatives in the White House, and with an unwonted display of anger expressed amazement at the report that he had urged that the measure should be rushed through without debate.

Most emphatically he declared that no recommendation had been made that this new legislation should be attached to the "Nuisance Taxes" Bill and passed into law that week.

His suggestions in this instance, he said, had aimed not only at raising additional revenue but at creating better social order. He had not even seen the schedules proposed by the Treasury.

Mr. Roosevelt's lieutenants in Congress accepted his astonishing change of front with remarkable loyalty. They promptly passed the "Nuisance Taxes" Bill without incorporating into it any of the share-the-wealth taxes, and announced that these would be initiated in accordance with the usual procedure in the House of Representatives instead of in the Senate.

Thus nine days of turmoil ended with serious impairment of Mr. Roosevelt's reputation for uncanny political foresight.

SHOP-LIFTERS GAOLED

Three Unemployed Men Concerned

Three shop-lifters, Ng San, aged 27, Tam Po, aged 23, and Ng Yee, aged 27, all unemployed, were this morning sentenced to six weeks' hard labour by Mr. Q. A. A. Macfadyen at the Central Police Court for the theft of (a) a pair of stockings from the China Emporium, (b) a singlet from the Cheung Ming Store, and (c) a singlet from the Wing On Company.

Detective Sergeant T. Cashman said that the defendants' behaviour, while near the Ho Tung Building in Queen's Road Central yesterday, aroused the suspicions of a district watchman, and he followed them. The first two accused entered the China Emporium while the third waited outside. After a while the two re-appeared and handed the third a pair of stockings. Thereupon the district watchman went up and arrested all three. At the station a pawn ticket relating to one of the singlets was found, and the other singlet was found on one of the defendants.

CHINESE WIDOW IN TROUBLE

Quarrel Over Rent

A quarrel over rent which resulted in a fight led to both the defendant and the complainant being bound over in personal bonds of $50 each to be of good behaviour for 12 months at the Central Magistracy this morning, when a Chinese widow, Ip Po, was charged before Mr. W. Schofield with assaulting Chan Sau, a married woman. Defendant was also ordered to pay complainant a sum of $1 as compensation, in default four days' imprisonment.

MAN ON PAROLE RUNS LOOSE

CLERK ROBBED OF SILVERWARE

CURIOUS TALE IN COURT

Pleading guilty to charges of breaking into No. 728 Nathan Road on Sunday evening, and stealing a quantity of silverware, to the value of about $90, belonging to Tang Kam-wah, a clerk, and not reporting while under police supervision for six months, Wong Sing, alias Wong Yat, a 23-year-old unemployed, was sentenced to 12 months' hard labour by Mr. E. L. Wynne Jones at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning.

Detective-Sergeant Allen, of the Mong Kok Tsui Police Station, stated that defendant entered the place by breaking through the roof door and then breaking into the complainant's bedroom, from where he stole the silverware.

On information received the defendant was arrested by a Chinese detective at his home at No. 5 Fife Street.

As a result of the search made of the house, Leung Oi, the 20-year-old concubine of the defendant, was also charged with receiving the property (it was found under her bed). She pleaded innocence and was discharged.

After having sentence passed on him the defendant said that he had applied for a hawk's license but it had been refused him. He asked that his concubine should be allowed a license to hawk while he was in prison. As regards the second charge he pleaded that when he went to the police station to report he had heard people speaking about him so he did not go back.

Upon looking at defendant's record card Mr. Wynne Jones remarked on its being one of the worst records he had ever seen.

Eleventh-Hour Hopes

BRITISH AND FRENCH VIEWPOINTS

Geneva, To-day.

Falling an eleventh-hour surprise in the shape of the appointment of the fifth arbitrator, it is generally assumed that the meeting of the League Council will be convened for July 31. It is learned that no agreement has yet been reached between Paris and London regarding the course to be adopted by the Council.

The French Government still hope to confine the discussion to the question of the frontier incident and possibly by the appointment of a fifth arbitrator, to secure a fresh postponement of the main issue until the end of August.

It is gathered, however, that Britain would be prepared to stage a frank discussion of the whole question and let the Abyssinian appeal take its natural course under Article XV of the Covenant. The British viewpoint will have the support of the Little Entente, the Balkan Entente, and most of the members of the Council.—Reuter.

SUPPLY OF ARMS

A message from London states that the Government was heckled yesterday in the House of Commons over its policy with regard to the supply of arms. Sir Samuel Hoare replied that he was hoping to make a statement very shortly, and mentioned that France had prohibited the export of war materials to Italy and Abyssinia.—Reuter.

QUESTIONS IN PARLIAMENT

London, To-day.

At question time in the House of Commons yesterday the Foreign Secretary, Sir Samuel Hoare, repeated his promise to make a statement shortly on the whole subject of the supply of arms to Italy and Abyssinia, and it is generally expected he will do so within the next day or two.

He stated that he was not in a position to say what action had been taken by Belgium, Czechoslovakia and other countries, but according to his information France had prohibited the export of war material to Italy and Abyssinia, while the Swedish Government had as yet received no applications for export licences.

The President of the Board of Trade, Mr. Walter Runciman, stated that no licence whatever had been issued for the export of arms to either Italy or Ethiopia during the past four months.

There had not, at any time since the signing of the treaty of 1930 between the United Kingdom, Ethiopia, France and Italy, been any difference in treatment given to Italy and Ethiopia, except as arises from the provisions of the treaty itself, that the importation of arms and munitions of war and aircraft into Ethiopia is subject to the production of an export licence issued by the country of export after presentation to its authorities of an authorisation by the Ethiopian Government for import into Ethiopia.

According to the newspapers such authorisation by the Abyssinian Government has not been forthcoming in the case of orders which some British firms are understood to have received for delivery to Abyssinia.—British Wireless Service.

HOSTILITY TO REICH

Front Fighters Disciplined

CHINA MAIL SPECIAL

Erfurt, To-day.

The National Socialist German Front Fighters' League, formerly known as the Steel Helmets, has been forbidden by the State police here to wear any badges or uniform and clothing of any kind to denote membership of the League, or to hold any kinds of meetings or to exhibit the League's flag in public places.

This action was necessitated by the frequency with which recent members of the League have taken up an attitude hostile to the State and the National Socialist Party.—Trans-Ocean Service.

To-day's Short Story.

THE HARE

By Rearden
Conner

THE hare ran out of the meadow with great sweeps of its hind legs. It leaped into the pasture field and gambolled around on the fresh, wet grass. It was a very young hare. This was its first excursion into the wide world, and it throbbed with curiosity.

The morning was young, too. The rays of the sun had little warmth as yet, but the dew sparkled under them so that the whole field shimmered like finely spun glass. The drenched sward stretched away and away in front of the hare like a vast sea before a tiny coracle.

It dashed from tuft to tuft, nibbling at the blades of grass like a child running from one plate of delicacies to another. Its ears twitched with excitement. It canted around a group of thistles as though inviting them to join in its fun. It was late summer, and the ground was dotted here and there with mushrooms. The hare reared up in pretended fright each time it came upon the white buttons.

After a while it heard voices. An instinctive fear of man struck at its heart for the first time. It was, in fact, its first experience of fear of any sort. It found it a sickening sensation. Its heart ceased to sing and grew cold and almost still, like a pebble. It raised up on its haunches and lifted its ears erect. Then it looked around warily, sniffing the keen air.

A man and a woman were coming towards it. They were walking slowly, some yards apart, staring hard at the ground. The woman had a red handkerchief tied over her hair. Her limbs were hidden by a wide canvas apron. She was wearing big boots, probably those cast off by her man. The man was a huge, brawny fellow with shins clad in leggings.

TO-MORROW'S STORY

To-morrow's story will be "Under The Skin."

The grass swished around his boots with a harsh, squeaky sound. This was due to his habit of dragging his feet along as though his iron-shod boots were too heavy for him. Each of these people carried a basket. Every time the man saw a thistle he kicked at it as though its proud purple head annoyed him.

The hare gazed at him and felt its blood run cold. He towered up above it as a tree towers over a human being. The man and woman produced the same effect on the hare as a house and a haystack would produce on a small boy if they were suddenly given the power of movement. It realised at once that the man would not hesitate to send that huge boot of his crashing into its ribs if he were given the chance.

The hare turned and lolloped away. Its ears now lay flat on its back. Its brain was as tense as a tightened spring, waiting for the cries of pursuit which its heritage suggested would follow its discovery. But no shout came. The man and woman were too intent on their search. It hid under a ditch until they had passed into the next field and the last rumble of their voices had died away.

Once more it hopped out into the field. Now it was a little braver. Man was a great lumbering creature, slow of movement, easy to outwit as long as one kept clear of the vicious boots attached to the monster.

The sun was strengthening now. It felt the rays warm upon its back. Vapour was drifting up from the wet grass. It discovered a new game of chasing those wisps of vapour only to find them disappearing into thin air just when it reached them. Then cows began to amble into the field through a gap.

The hare was not instinctively afraid of them as had been the case with the human beings. But it was awed by their vastness. It sat up, pricked its ears, and watched them with wide-open eyes. They moved ponderously along, swishing their tails and shaking their heads. Occasionally they dropped dung without pausing in their walk. Their hooves made the same harsh noise in the grass as had the man's boots.

The leading cow came straight towards the hare. It grew frightened at once. Its ears dropped down, and it began to run. The cow saw it and stopped in its walk with a stupid look on its placid face. Then it realised that this was a creature of no consequence, shook its head in disdain, and went on ahead.

A young bull saw the hare and ran a little way after it, slowly and heavily. The bull was shaping in front of the cows, pretending to be angry. It tossed its head and snorted as though the hare were a huge creature endangering the herd. The hare was terrified, far more so than it had been at the approach of man. It ran like a streak across the grass, through a gap, and into the next field.

The ground here was bare, with blobs of earth every few yards. The hare paused just inside the field. It saw that the bull was not pursuing it. Once again it bravely returned to it. It had outwitted the bull by its superior speed. For the first time it became conscious of its own speed.

CHANNEL BUOYS

WHAT would modern navigation do without the channel buoys—those floating markers that keep ships off the shoals? In a very real sense, the advertisements in this paper are channel buoys, placed for your protection—for the safeguarding of the family expenditures.

These advertisements are the signed statements of reputable firms who seek your patronage on the single basis of giving value for every dollar spent. They are honest statements, the only kind an advertiser can use and remain an advertiser.

People who get the most for their dollar in the market places are those who keep an eye on the channel buoys. Day by day, they follow the advertisements to learn what and where to buy to the best advantage. Make this a habit. Study the advertisements, in the interest of shrewder buying.

The advertisers in this paper have charted the channels of buying for you. Keep to the course.

The other, at the same time this morning, was situated in Longitude 129 North, Latitude 16 East, its direction being unknown. This position is also in the open sea to the north-east of the main islands of the Philippines group, and is no particular menace to the main lands anywhere.

Woodstock.

Gabriel Woodward, 59, a hermit, of Bladon Heath, near Woodstock, pleaded guilty at Woodstock court recently to stealing food from a gamekeeper's house. He was remanded for seven days. This is what he ate during the absence of the gamekeeper's wife: Two pounds of loin of lamb, a cooked rabbit, half a loaf of bread, and half a rice pudding.

"I was hungry," he told the magistrates.

The Hare

Its heart swelled, and it knew then the exultation of fierce pride. It began to believe that no creature of the world could move as it could move. Ambition seeped into its brain. It wanted to run so fast that all living things would stand still in astonishment. Its limbs tensed then, its muscles rippled, its ears lay back—not with fear this time, but with determination—and it was off like a bolt. It shot across the flat ground, carving through the columns of vapour as a bird cleaves through smoke. The wind tugged at its breast and surged in its ears. Its heart throbbed like a tiny engine, hurrying its body on and on. The warm blood surged under its flesh until it was almost mad with the joy of swift movement.

It ran so fast that it did not see the gaunter man scaling the far wall of the field. The man had a gun in one hand. He spotted the hare as soon as he had dropped on to the grass. He lifted his gun and fired. The pellets whistled close to the hare's head and buried themselves in the soft ground.

The hare staggered as though it had been struck. This was due to its sudden check on its own speed. It tried to turn, sidestepped and rolled over and over. Then it lay flat on its belly. It panted harshly. Its limbs had suddenly lost their steeliness and had turned flabby with fear as though the very bones had been sucked out of them as the strong sun was drawing the moisture from the ground.

Now a new danger presented itself. A short, white form was climbing over the wall. This was a terrier with a sharp, vicious-looking snout. The man was striding eagerly towards the hare with his gun held in both hands across his body. He was whistling to the dog without pausing in his rapid walk. He believed that he had hit the hare.

The terrier raced around the corner of the field foolishly. It had not seen the hare, and it was too young to be experienced in such matters. Its master shouted to it, and pointed towards the spot where the hare was lying. The more he shouted the more excited the dog became, and the more wildly it barked and ran around its master.

The hare decided to take to its heels while this exhibition was in progress. It tensed its limbs once more and dashed towards the gap by which it had entered the field. The terrier saw its movement, ceased its gyrations, and stood as though trying to balance, like a man in drink. Then it shot off after the hare. The man shouted encouragement, and it almost doubled in two with striving.

It ran faster than the hare, but the hare had a good start and reached the gap fifty yards ahead of it. The terrier came hurtling through the gap in time to see the hare take refuge in a wide clump of blackberry brambles which grew in the ditch rummel.

The clump was very thick. The leaves made the heart of it gloomy and seemingly remote. The hare felt a false sense of security. It lay on its stomach with its long ears drooping over its back. Its whole body quivered with fear and excitement. Its heart thumped like the sounds of a muted drum being beaten incessantly.

The terrier sniffed around the clump of brambles and tried to thrust its snout into the gloom. The hare tore at the sensitive flesh on its nose and it howled with pain. It leaped on to the ditch and leaped down again in a frenzy of blood-lust and fury.

Soon the man came on the scene, puffing after a sharp run. The dog grew nearly crazy with excitement. It yelped and whined and scratched around the edge of the blackberry clump. Its master urged it on: "Go get him, boy! Catch him, boy! Fetch him out of it!"

He poked into the brambles with the barrels of his shotgun. He tore away the blackberry leaves with his huge hands and made a peep-hole for himself. For a few seconds the eye of "Man" stared down into the liquid eye of the hare. Then the gun barrels replaced the eye and the hare found itself looking upward into two narrow tubes. Some instinct warned it that those tubes sheltered danger. It sprang to the long grass at the edge of the clump and dived

QUESTIONS ON PRICE OF TIN IN COMMONS

Colonial Secretary
Explains

INTERNATIONAL COMMITTEES OPERATIONS

London, To-day.
In reply to questions in the House of Commons regarding the shortage of tin and the exceptional rise in price on the London metal exchanges on Monday, the Secretary for the Colonies, Mr. Malcolm MacDonald, said that he was informed that the buffer stock committee had at its disposal sufficient tin to meet the normal demands likely to be made in the near future. He understood that a meeting of the committee would be held in a few days to consider the situation.

Representatives of Malaya and Nigeria on the International Tin Committee and buffer stock committee were fully aware of the importance of preventing any shortage of tin.

FLUCTUATIONS REDUCED
Replying to a supplementary question as to whether he would consider appointing a special committee to enquire into the operations of the International Tin Committee, Mr. MacDonald said that since the establishment of the Committee the fluctuations in price which used to take place had been very considerably reduced.

The subject was discussed at the annual meeting of the Tin Producers' Association yesterday, when Mr. E. J. Byrne said that the majority of the producers and consumers were not concerned with the acrobatics of the spot price, since they bought forward; and he added that there had been and is plenty of forward tin for delivery at a fair and stable price.

The settlement price on the metal market this afternoon was £233 7/2 per ton.—British Wireless Service.

LONDON NOT SO VULNERABLE

Air Raid Tests

London, To-day.

An official communique on last night's air exercises, issued from the Air Ministry, shows that London is not so vulnerable as unofficial comments had led many to think. Fighters can be said to have inflicted very heavy casualties among the attacking force.

Last evening eight squadrons of bombers carried out raids, and only one full squadron completely evaded the defending fighters. During the night a phase of 30 raids were carried out and 11 of these were intercepted. In the

BRITISH LEGION IN GERMANY

IMPORTANT STEP TO CONCILIATION

FACILITATING INTERNATIONAL RAPPROCHEMENT

—CHINA MAIL—SPECIAL
Berlin, To-day.

The British Legion's visit forward on the way to the conciliation of the nations and the establishment of peace by former enemies, stated the President of the Legion, Major Crossfield, and a member of the delegation, Captain Hawes, in an interview given just before their departure on Tuesday and published in the "Berliner Tageblatt" last evening.

"The object of our journey," stated the British ex-soldiers, "was to gain a true impression of Germany, and this object has been completely attained. We must say that before our arrival we had not a proper knowledge of present-day Germany, where we find great importance attached to keeping the spirit of front line fighters alive, but where we found no evidence that a doctrine of hate is being taught."

The British Legion delegates concluded by saying that they regarded it as their duty to remove the mistrust in their own country in order to facilitate the rapprochement of the nations, and expressed the belief that with goodwill and hard work this goal was attainable.—Trans-Ocean Service.

YOUNG MAN FOUND HANGED

Apparent Suicide At Kowloon City

An apparent case of suicide by hanging occurred in the early hours of yesterday at Sung Wong Toi, near Kowloon City Police Station.

Passers-by at about 6 a.m. noticed the body of a young man, about 25 years of age, hanging from a rock near the temple and reported the matter to the police, who had it taken down and removed to the public mortuary. The dead man has not yet been identified.

SHING MUN FATALITY

A 36-year-old Chinese male, Lai Chu, fell 40 feet to his death yesterday while working at the Shing Mun Valley scheme. It appears that deceased was drilling when he lost his footing. The body has been removed to the Public Mortuary.

early morning a concentrated attack on London targets was made by eight squadrons, and seven were intercepted.—British Wireless Service.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA BILL IN THE LORDS

Third Reading Passed Without Division

LORD ZETLAND'S APPEAL FOR CO-OPERATION

London, To-day.

The Government of India Bill passed its third reading in the House of Lords last night without a division.

The Secretary for India, Lord Zetland, announced that H.M. the King had placed at the disposal of Parliament for the purposes of the bill His Majesty's interests in territorial and other revenues at the disposal of the Crown in India and in other matters pertaining to the Government of India for which the bill provided.

For the Labour party Lord Snell said the bill had serious defects but he asked the Indian people to accept it and work it to the full. He hoped that Indian workers would set themselves against non-co-operation and violence of any kind.

Lord Lloyd said that the years of successful British rule in India were at an end. He and other opponents of the bill predicted serious consequences from its passage.

APPEAL FOR CO-OPERATION
Winding up the debate Lord Zetland made a serious appeal for co-operation. It was inevitable that the opponents of the bill figured more prominently than its supporters. Indians might misunderstand that. He assured them that there was behind the bill a great measure of good will on the part of the British people.

It should be realised, he said, that what was actually contained in the bill was of less importance than the spirit in which it was offered. India had a great contribution to make to the advancement of mankind and he desired to see the two peoples co-operating for that end.—British Wireless Service.

BELFAST RIOTS

"Orgies Of Violence" Bring Protest

—CHINA MAIL—SPECIAL

Belfast, To-day.

The exaggerated statements in the foreign press about "orgies of violence" alleged to be taking place here elicited a strong protest from the Lord Chief Justice of Ulster, Sir William Moore, who in a speech at the opening of the Belfast Assizes pointed out that whereas the city contains a total of 450,000 inhabitants, the riots took place among the population of only one area, of 1,500, so that exactly 1 per cent. of the total population was affected.—Trans-Ocean Service.
